

Build your own Bug Hotel

Give the tiny creatures of our world a place to live this winter

Cut down dried out flowers and plants and stack together in a bundle to create small spaces for bugs to crawl into

Use any old bricks, logs, or twigs to create a structure (like the game jenga) in your garden

Bugs and bees love hiding in the hollows of bamboo sticks

Turn old bricks on their side and stuff the holes with acorns, twigs, conkers and any other things you find in the garden

Collect lots of leaves and twigs/sticks on a walk or in your garden

Chicken wire can help form a structure to layer items on top of.

Place your bug inn, in a south facing direction near plants and flowers to encourage bugs to pollinate

Turn old broken plant pots upside down or prop up planks of wood to create a dark dry space

Can you find the dragonflies hiding in the Bug Inn? There are 4 to find